PAYOR AGREEMENT

We are committed to the success of your medical treatment and care. At our centers, we try to provide excellent medical care and at the same time make sure we can answer all your insurance questions.

Please understand that the payment of your bill is part of this treatment and care. For your convenience, we have answered a variety of commonly asked financial and office policy questions.

How may I pay?

We accept payment by cash, check, money order, Visa, Discover, Mastercard, and American Express.

What is my financial responsibility for radiation therapy?

You are responsible for paying for your office visit copay for all office visits with your radiation oncologist at time of visit.

Radiation treatment copay or coinsurance are due no later date of service unless otherwise coordinated with the financial counselor. You are responsible for making your payment at the front desk of your treatment office. You will be given a receipt for your payment.

How do I know what my insurance will pay?

We are participating providers with most insurance plans. The amount of your coverage depends on your insurance plan. Plan coverage most often assigns a portion of financial responsibility to the patient, often referred to as “cost share”, “coinsurance”, or “copayment”.

It is strongly advised that you contact your insurance company for explanation of benefits for ‘outpatient radiation therapy’. You can contact the member services department by calling the number on the back of your insurance card.

How do I know what I will owe weekly for my treatment?

Prior to starting treatment, you need to contact our office financial counselor to discuss your treatment estimated cost. You will be provided with information on your insurance plan benefits and payment options available to you. Feel free to contact the financial counselor if you have any questions regarding your billing statement during your course of treatment, or after treatment has been completed. For questions regarding payment of claims you will need to contact your insurance company directly.

I have read and understand the above patient financial question and answer notice/payor agreement.
